Work-related Experiential Learning (WREL)

NERUPI – Student Progression and Employability

Barrie Grey – Head of Student and Graduate Employability

What is WREL at YSJ

- Authentic and externally grounded work related activity
- In all degree subjects at all levels
- Designed to develop in intensity across the levels of study
- 12 principles to ensure effective embedding
- Impact driven and linked to student outcomes

Why WREL?

- Why is a degree not enough?
- Widening gaps in experience, networks, opportunities and attainment
- Removing the deficit made worse by cost of living pressures
- Create a narrative for employability and improve employment outcomes
- Increase skills and attribute development

Examples of WREL

- Organisation set challenges
- Live briefs
- Final project (dissertation) externally set research questions
- Alumni and employer panels
- Living Lab
- Visits and guest speakers
- Placements
- Simulations
