What is Uni Connect?

'For the past two years, NCOP has focused on areas of England where the number of young people going into higher education is low overall and where there is evidence that significant numbers of young people are not going to university despite having GCSE results predicting their ability to do so.

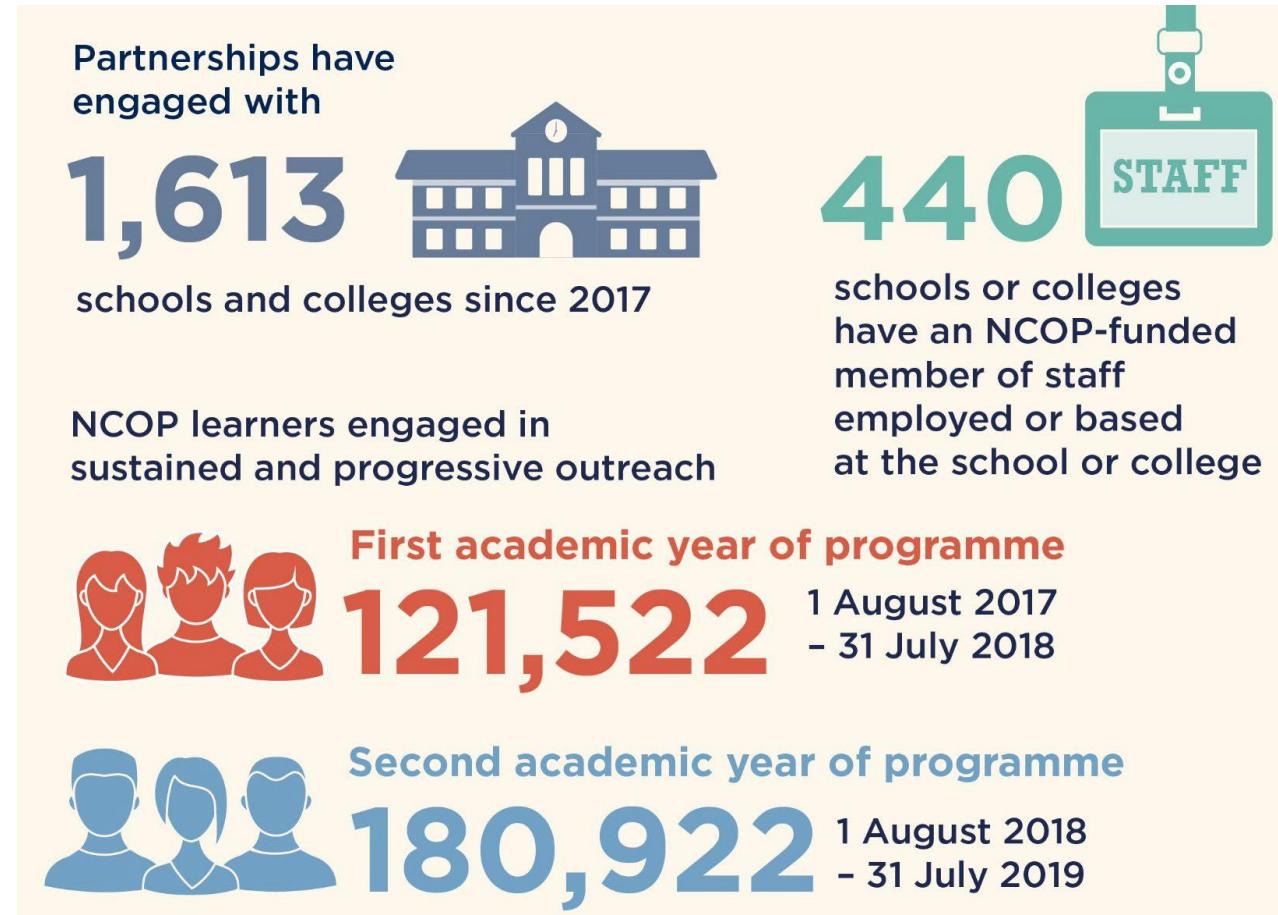

In the next phase, the programme is expanding to cover a wider range of state-funded schools and colleges outside of NCOP target areas.

This recognises that there are many potential students from underrepresented groups outside low participation areas. It also recognises that we can increase efficiency and effectiveness of outreach carried out by individual colleges and universities if we support them to work with each other in more areas across the country.'
