Evaluation and equity

The imperative to assess the impact of widening participation and equity interventions is growing. Managers, practitioners, teachers, lecturers, researchers and funders are all keen to know where activities are having a positive effect. The Office for Students and HEFCW require higher education institutions and outreach consortia to publish and submit impact reports and action plans demonstrating how their activities will contribute to meeting their targets.

But measuring impact is not straightforward, particularly in this field where context is so critical and activities are frequently tailored for certain groups. NERUPI provides opportunities for evaluators to develop their expertise through a community of practice centred on the praxis-based NERUPI Framework.

Insights from both academic research and practical delivery combine to offer a rigorous yet flexible approach to programme design and evaluation that can meet the requirements of funders, practitioners and managers.

- ◆ Collaborate on research and evaluation projects to increase knowledge and understanding about WP

Office for Students and Higher Education Funding Council for Wales Guidance

Membership of NERUPI and implementing the NERUPI Evaluation Framework enables partners to meet main stakeholder requirements including:

- ◆ Setting outcome focussed targets to capture the impact of work
- ◆ Planning creatively, evaluating robustly and reporting clearly
- ◆ Using evidence of outcomes achieved and lessons learned to support continuous improvements
- ◆ Setting collaborative targets in partnership with other providers

Events for Members

Most NERUPI events are offered exclusively and free of charge to staff at our member organisations, helping to build a community of practice. Combining insights from theory and practice with practical workshop sessions, a typical session starts with a presentation from a researcher which introduces the broad theme for the event followed by a case study illustrating the links to everyday practice. Practical workshops to plan and develop your own evaluation resources are next on the agenda with the opportunity to share the outcomes with the wider group at the close of the day along with suggestions for further activities. We schedule lunch and refreshment breaks throughout allowing plenty of time for further discussion and networking. For online events there are breakout rooms where you can discuss with a smaller group.

Past Events

Presentations and materials from past events are available to members on the website including recordings wherever possible.

Past event themes and keynotes: Collaborative outreach (Anna Mountford-Zimdars); Student ambassadors (Clare Gartland); Admissions (Vikki Boliver); Knowledge, learning & attainment (Paul Ashwin); Possible selves (Jacqueline Stevenson); Graduate progression (Nicola Ingram); Geographies of WP (Michael Donnelly); Capability approach (Monica McLean); Science & subject capital (Louise Archer).

NERUPI Framework

NERUPI supports practitioners and evaluators in designing, evaluating and reporting on their widening participation interventions - in outreach, student success and graduate progression. The NERUPI Framework is underpinned by a robustly theoretical and evidence-based rationale and has clear and relevant over-arching aims and learning outcomes which allows for demonstration of impact using a range of indicators.

Five Overarching Aims

The Framework's overarching aims are broken down into sub-aims organised according to the stage of the participant and the level of intensity of the activity.

Know	develop knowledge of HE / grad employment
Choose	develop capacity to navigate HE / grad employment
Become	develop confidence and resilience in HE / grad employment
Practise	develop skills and capacity for student and career success
Understand	develop understanding through contextualised subject knowledge and attainment raising

I like the fact that 5 pillars of the evaluation are easy to understand and easy to explain to staff and students alike - FutureHY Uni Connect Member

NERUPI Resources

Staff at member organisations can sign up for free to the NERUPI members' website where they can explore a wealth of resources related to widening participation theory, practice, research and evaluation. Online resources include:

- ◆ The full NERUPI Framework plus related tools and templates*
- ◆ NERUPI practice examples and materials from members
- ◆ Presentations from past events and workshops
- ◆ Links to WP books, articles and blogs
- ◆ WP guidance documents, policy briefings and reports

We are developing an online toolkit based on the and equity initiatives.

NERUPI is also endorsed by HEAT — the Higher Education Access Tracker Service.

The NERUPI aims can be easily incorporated into HEAT, allowing quick and consistent coding

It is very intuitive for those who have been working within any form of WP remit, as it validates and theorises what many practitioners may feel is a ... 'just what we do' approach - WIN member
