NERUPI network

Evaluating & Researching University Participation Interventions

Fostering Meaningful Student Voice

In its student engagement strategy for 2022-23 the OfS requires HEIs to take account of Student Voice and engage with students in an impactful way to widen participation. This NERUPI event will explore current strategies for eliciting student views, consider the limitations of different systems and identify the role that research and evaluation can play in making student voice meaningful. At this online event we will explore some of the definitions surrounding student voice, the challenges and opportunities this area of work brings, and how student voice can be effectively and ethically included to enhance student access, success and progression.

♦  09.30  Virtual Coffee and Registration

♦  9.45  Welcome and introductions
   Annette Hayton, NERUPI Convenor, Senior Research Fellow, University of Bath

♦  10.00  What is Meaningful Student Voice?
   Dr Helen Young, London South Bank University

♦  10.30  Creating Spaces and Building Trust
   Dr Amina Razak, Research Associate, Newcastle University

♦  10.50  Discussion

♦  11.15  SHORT BREAK (15 MINS)

♦  11.30  Developing Participant Action Research
   Dr Nicole Brown, Associate Professor, University College London

♦  12.00  School Students as Researchers in Outreach
   Dr Anthea Rose, Research Fellow, University of Lincoln
   Lucy Mallinson, Research Assistant , University of Lincoln

   12.20  Discussion

♦  12.45  LUNCH

♦  1.30  The Decolonisation Education Collective (DEC)
   Dr Constantino Dumangane Jr with students from the University of York

♦  2.30  Developing Strategies for Meaningful Student Voice
   Discussion Groups

♦  3.00  Feedback

♦  3.15  CLOSE